COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

Thanks are extended to Gould Academy for the donation of china dishes. The dishes are being distributed to large family groups who can make use of them.

Roland Annis, Jr., has been appointed foreman of the Highway Department, replacing Robert York who recently resigned. Mr. Annis has been serving as acting foreman since Feb. 9.

The first tax anticipation loan of $25,000.00 is being made this week from the Casco Bank. The interest rate is 2 1/4% which is 1/4% higher than last year.

It was observed that when the fire equipment was returning to the station after answering a call that persons, including children, were riding who are not members of the department. In the April issue of The Maine Townsman, the legal counsel gives the following legal opinion regarding riders who are non-members of the department: "I would advise the driver not to permit persons to get on the truck. If they do, and an injury takes place and they could show that the driver was negligent, both the driver and the company would be responsible unless they can show that the person injured also was negligent. Together, the risk is great and such persons should not be permitted to get on to the truck."

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

A Brighter Outlook For Farm Equipment Stocks

The farm equipment industry has done considerably better than many of the other capital goods industries during 1958; in fact, in a study we made of seven companies, six of them showed earnings in 1958 higher than those in 1957. Of these seven companies, six of them are on a fiscal year ending October 31 and have already reported their first quarter earnings for the three months period ended January 31, 1959. Five of these show improved earnings while the sixth company (International Harvester) showed poorer earnings probably because of a nine weeks work stoppage. Furthermore, it is interesting to note that of these six companies, five operated in the black, again with International Harvester being the only one operating at a loss. This is unusual in that the first quarter is seasonally a poor one for farm equipment sales as shown by the fact that last year three of the six operated at a loss.

In 1958 farm income was up over 1957. Greater growth in the farm equipment field seems likely as farms are becoming more and more mechanized and the day of the hand operated farm is almost over. Furthermore many of these companies have diversified into the roadbuilding and construction equipment field, an industry expected to show improvement later this year. Consequently it seems likely that all of these companies will probably have better earnings in 1959 than in 1958.

Another interesting finding is that five of the seven companies we have covered sell at a discount from their book value, one sells at approximately its net working capital after debt and preferred stocks have been deducted and one sells at a discount to working capital. This means in effect that if these companies were liquidated the liquidation would be at a higher level than the actual market value of the stocks. These findings are particularly interesting when one considers the possibility of any merger with some other company taking over one of these farm equipment companies with the purpose of diversifying its operations.

There are seven companies which we feel are interesting for investors depending on their objectives:

For the most conservative investor we would recommend Deere & Co. and International Harvester.

For the person willing to take a businessman's risk Allis Chalmers and Oliver look interesting.

For the speculator we would recommend J. I. Case, Massey-Ferguson and Minneapolis-Moline. 195

An Edgington 4-H club made miniature drawing bags for the soil samples and a Harpswell 4-H Club is in charge of the ceremony, starting at 2 p. m. Friday. Mrs. Virginia S. PINE TREE COUNCIL OPERATING COMMITTEE MEETING

Five members of the Rangeley District Scout Committee and Commissioner Staff traveled to Saco on Wednesday, April 15, for a meeting of the Pine Tree Council Operating Committees at the Saco First Congregational Church. Those who went were George Suttulund, Rangeley, Organization and Extension Committee Chairman; Julian Delano, Mexico, Assistant District Commissioner; Sylvio Breton, Rumford, Advancement Committee Chairman; Jaro Konecny, Salem, Assistant District Commissioner; and Edward Robinson, Phillips, District Scout Executive.

After a baked ham supper, the group heard a talk by Heywood Sawyer of Portland about the progress being made on the new Council Service Center now being built near the Northgate Shopping Center in Portland. Clinton A. Rose, Scout Executive of the Pine Tree Council, gave a brief report on the progress of the Council during the past two months. The group then separated into Operating Committees to plan the overall Council program and carry this information back to their own districts.
